THE NEWS.

—For latest news see Fourth Page.

—Gov. Brough's last words were "I die happily and gloriously."

—Garibaldi has politely requested an editor of a paper published near him to announce that he is not fond of visits. A pretty good hint to bores.

—The Monadnock, the monster monitor which Admiral Porter said he would cross the ocean in, is to be sent to San Francisco around Cape Horn.

—Bishop Kavanaugh, in a sermon before the St. Louis Conference, last week, advised them not to obey the law requiring them to take an oath. Who can help doubting the piety and christianity of such a man.

—Governor Anderson, of Ohio, requested that yesterday, Friday, be observed by the people of that State with due reverence, by abstaining from secular pursuits, &c., on account of the funeral of Gov. Brough.

—A Richmond correspondent says that H. River Pollard has left the Times of which he was one of the proprietors, and is about to sue Wynne, the other proprietor. It will be a good case for the lawyers. The loss of Pollard is a serious one to the Times, as it is an all powerful name with the Southern people here."

Mr. John Swinton, of the New York Times, was robbed the other day of $4,000. The thief was caught and the money recovered.

—Siamese papers received in New York last week contain full accounts of the assassination of President Lincoln, and represent that great excitement prevails.

—"Allow me through your Journal,"—so writes Wm. Cornell Jewett to the New York News—"to inform Messrs. Raymond and Weed that they must, on my return from Europe, be prepared to give the satisfaction due between gentlemen, for late malicious printed insults to me, or be branded before posterity—in my proposed Peace History of the Civil War in America—as national cowards."

—"Come till America, Pat!" writes a son of the Emerald Isle to his friend in Ireland; "'tis a fine country to get a living in. All ye have to do is to get a three-cornered box and fill it with brick and carry it till the top of a four-story building, and the man at the top does all the work."

—A correspondent who has been travelling through Nevada thinks the silver resources of that State "are sufficient to pay off a national debt of twenty billions, present each returned soldier of the Union with a silver musket, and then plate all our war vessels with silver, thicker than they are now sheathed with iron."

The Elgin (Scotland) Courier chronicles the death of "an old lady who for years, 'cherished the pleasing, though perhaps erroneous impression that General Grant was her grandson.' The only foundation for the belief appears to have been that she had two sons who emigrated to America. One of them, Peter, after having attained the rank of Major, was killed in Mexico. Mrs. Grant subsequently went to America in search of Alexander, the other son, where she remained for nine months, when she learned that he was then in the State of Ohio, but at such a distance that it was impossible for her to get his address; since she had not heard of him. This Alexander, a person of great muscular strength, and who stood six feet four inches high, if alive, is now forty six years of age. It is surmised by many of the clan that one of these two brothers may be the father of Gen. Grant.

—The official monthly statement of the public debt has been published. The recapitulation is as follows: Amount of outstanding debt bearing interest in coin, $1,108,815,191,80; interest, $64,596,50; debt bearinterest in lawful money, $1,478 103,16; interest $78,587,017,74; debt on which interest has ceased, $1,508,020,00; debt bearing no interest, $373,398,256,88. Total debt, $1,757,689,571,48; interest, $137,031,628,24; legal tender notes in circulation, and one and two and five per cent notes, $33,954,880,00; United States notes, old issue, $432,757,601; compound interest notes, act of March 3d, 163, $15,000,000; compound interest notes, act of July 30th, 1865, $22,090,150. Total $684,138,959. As contrasted with the statement published 31st of July, the principal has been increased only $275.000 within the last month, while the interest on the debt has increased nearly $331,090. The legal tender notes have been reduced $1,057,000. The amount of coin now in the treasury, is $45,500,000, or about $10,000,000 more than a month ago. The currency now in the Treasury is nearly $43,000,000, as against $31,000,000, showing a reduction of currency in the Treasury for the past month of $38,500,000. The suspended requisitions amount to a little over $2,000,000.

—A correspondent of The Maine Democrat says the father of Jefferson Davis was born in Maine, and went South when he had nearly arrived at manhood. He was not afterwards heard of until Jeff. Davis visited Maine some years ago, when he stated in conversation with a friend, that his father was born in Buxton, and had arrived in Mississippi a poor boy. The writer says Davis' parents were not married.

—A suit has been commenced in the Johnson County Circuit Court, Missouri, by a Union soldier named Bryan Hornsby, against several distinguished rebels —including Sterling Price, James S. Rains, Stephen Pockerill and others—for $50,000 damages for false imprisonment early in the war. Price and Rains both own property in the State, which will supply over the verdict, if one be rendered in the plaintiff's favor.

—The buildings and other property belonging to the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va., which have been in the hands of the government during the war, are now to be restored.

—Jeff Davis is sick again with erysipelis, boils and other skin diseases. It is thought to be nothing but corruption breaking out.

THE DAILY PROGRESS.

VOL. VI. RALEIGH, SATURDAY, SEPT. 9, 1865 NO. 254.

Rare Scenes in Richmond—An Editor Cowhided.—A Duel and not a Duel.

[From the Richmond Dispatch of Sept. 8th.]

Immediately after the establishment of the Richmond Times, Mr. Robert M. Reynor was employed as agent and canvasser for that paper in the city, and continued as such for some five or six weeks.—Since then he has been in the habit of calling daily at the office, and was on friendly terms with everybody there. On Monday he was requested by Mr. H. River Pollard, the editor and part proprietor of the paper, who was then, and had been for several weeks confined to his room by sickness, to call at the Times office as he went to dinner and deliver a message to Mr. P. H. Aylett. Mr. Reynor complied with the request, but finding that Mr. Aylett was not in the editorial room, was about to retire, when Mr. Wynne stepped out of the counting room and insultingly ordered him out, telling him in violent language, never to set his foot in the office again.

Mr. Reynor.—Mr. Wynne, what does this mean?

Mr. Wynne.—It means that you are no gentleman.

Mr. Reynor.—You are a d—d liar.

Mr. Wynne thereupon struck at him, but Mr. Reynor warded off the blow, and the clerks then rushed in and separated them. As Mr. Reynor left the office, he said: "Sir, you shall hear from me again."

WANTS TO SEND A CHALLENGE.

Mr Reynor immediately sought the counsel of a friend, and determined to send Mr. Wynne a peremptory challenge, of which the following is a copy:

"RICHMOND, September 4, 1865.

"Chas H. Wynne, Esq.:

"Sir: You have, without cause or provocation, insulted me. You took occasion to do this when you were surrounded by some three or four of your clerks. I have to demand of you that satisfaction which no gentleman will deny when he has insulted another.

"My friend, Mr. ——, who will deliver this, is authorised to act for me in making all necessary arrangements for an immediate meeting.

"I am, very respectfully,

"Your obedient servant,

"JOHN M. REYNOR."

After some consideration, and after applying to one or two of his friends to bear it, who declined on conscientious grounds, Mr. Reynor at length yielded to the advice of a friend, who had earnestly dissuaded him from sending a challenge, and decided upon more certain and summary redress. Upon coming to this determination, he went to the Times office with the hope of obtaining some explanation or apology, but not finding Mr. Wynne in, he walked round on Broad street, where he saw him come out of his dwelling-house and enter a hack. As he passed the crossing where Mr. Reynor was standing, the latter called upon him to stop, that he wanted to have a word with him. Mr. Wynne, however, without noticing him, ordered the hackman "drive on," whereupon he gave whip to his horses and went off at a rapid pace.

MR. WYNNE AND MR. REYNOR MEET.

Nothing occurred further until yesterday about half-past one o'clock, when Mr. Reynor was standing in front of the Ballard House, conversing with a friend, he saw Mr. Wynne coming up the street.—He thereupon went down the street and met Mr. Wynne immediately in front of the barber-shop in the basement of the Ballard. Without any ceremony, he drew back and struck Mr. Wynne full in the face, knocking him down.

THE COWHIDING.

Mr. Reynor then drew a cowhide, which he had concealed beneath his coat, and laid on blows thick and fast. During this part of the encounter Mr. Wynne managed to regain his feet, and drew a pistol, when Mr. Reynor grasped the hand in which he held it, and continued with the other to use the cowhide with increased rapidity. At this junction of the affair the police came upon the ground and arrested both parties. They, however, soon released Mr. Wynne, who retired to the Ballard to wash the blood from his face. Mr. Reynor was taken before Lieutenant-Colonel Warren, Provost Marshall for the Second district, who, after examining several parties that witnessed the occurrence, sent him to the Provost Judge, Lieutenant-Colonel McEntee, who, after a brief examination, admitted him to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars to appear again before him at 10 o'clock this morning.

MR. WYNNE'S INJURIES.

Mr. Wynne was very badly injured, receiving several deep gashes across his face and ugly cuts about his head and shoulders. So swollen and disfigured by the closing of his eyes, in fact, was his face, that a short time after the termination of the affair his most intimate friends were able with difficulty to recognise him. Mr. Reynor sustained not the slightest injury.

THE EXCITEMENT.

The first announcement of the encounter at the hotels and other public places occasioned and unusual excitement, which increased as exaggerated rumors of the affair spread from street to treet. This was not to be wondered at when we remember that nothing else bordering on the sensational has occurred in our great city since its occupation by the military —Both parties, of course, had their warm friends and partisans, who looked at the matter from different standpoints. The one characterized it as a brutal assault, the other as a mental chastisement, given in return for an unprovoked insult. Some of the former alleged that Mr. Reynor knocked Mr. Wynne down with a slung-shot; while the others asseverated, in the most positive and unequivocal terms, that prior to drawing the cowhide he had only used the weapons with which nature had armed him.

WHO THE PARTIES ARE.

Mr. Wynne is a well-known citizen of Richmond, and before the establishment of the Times was at the head of a large book and job office. For several years of the war he was a member of the First Richmond Howitzers.

Mr. Reynor is a native of Maryland, and moved some years ago to Louisiana. At the commencement of hostilities in 1861 he came to Virginia with the Louisiana troops, and was severely wounded in the first battle of Manassas. He afterwards was employed by the Southern Express Company, and like Mr. Wynne, has sustained a good reputation with those who knew him.

A full investigation of the affair will take place this morning being the Provost Court, and as our reporters will be on hand, our readers may look to-morrow to the columns of the Republic for a full account of all that may transpire.

THE CITY.

VERY BADLY BITTEN.—John Rhodes an employee in this office, while on his way home last night, was savagely attacked by a tremendous dog on Hillsboro street. John having all the courage which is predisposed to exist in all employees about a printing office, defended himself most manfully, and ultimately killed the cur.

The wisdom of our former recommendations is thus demonstrated—the dogs must be kept shut up, or else the season of hydrophobia will be upon us with all its force.

IN SEASON.—With a patriotic spirit which does us all commendation, our tradesmen have cut out stretching their arms to every variety of employment. Last night for the first time in four years, oysters graced our table fresh, full, delicious, from the oysters of the oysters breeds, near Norfolk, Va.—The Governor has not deemed to inaugurate his mammoth bivalves, but our friend Bishop furnished us the treat in spite of the distance of 90 miles between us. He has our thanks for the attention.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN THE PROVOST OFFICE.—By reference to the following copy of an order recently issued by Gen. Harden, it will be seen that another change has taken place in the Provost office of this district.

HEAD QUARTERS, DIST. OF RALEIGH.
Raleigh, N. C. Sept. 6th, 1865.

SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 28.

[EXTRACT.]

Capt. David B. Purinton, Co. C., 26th Mich. Infantry, is hereby appointed Provost Marshal for the District of Raleigh, and will report with his company at these Head Quarters for duty at once.

By command of Brig. Gen. M. D. HARDEN.
HENRY A. HALL,
Capt. & A. A. G.

It has been hinted to us that the Progress is in the habit of "puffing" all new comers in positions of the above ilk; ergo, we forbear extended mention at this time and satisfy ourselves with the expression of a hope that this appointment will be satisfactory and permanent.

ARRESTED.—Two miscreants—both deserters from the rebel army, and subsequently members of the 76th Penn.,—were arrested in this city yesterday. Said arrest terminated a career of six months duration, as brilliant in the annals of crime as any we have heard of lately. These worthies have made a practice of going to citizens in the country, and taking from them the horses, loaned them by the government, in each case giving a receipt. Alternately one did the impressing, while the other sold horses.

REMOVED.—Charlie Belvin "the efficient," informs us that the post office has been removed to the building erected for the use of the Bank of North Carolina, at the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets. Charlie is an old attache of the institution and his smiling face and accommodating manners are well known to all of our citizens.

SODA WATER, ETC.—Yesterday we happened to drop into Mr. T. F. Lee's establishment on Fayetteville street, and there procured one of the best, coolest and most refreshing glasses of soda water that have indulged in during this awful heated term.—Besides the soda water there are other things to be found there equally attractive.

AN AMATURE match game of billiards occurred in Golden's establishment over the "Conservative Office" yesterday evening. The stakes were small, but the playing was excellent.

GOLD IN THE CARDS.—We have a large lot of fine paper on hand, and can print military blanks, court blanks, circulars, catalogues, &c., at the shortest notice, and at northern prices.

Also a large lot of cards on hand, which we can print at from $5 to $8 a thousand. Orders solicited at PROGRESS OFFICE.

AGENTS WANTED FOR
The Secret Service, the Field, the Dungeon, and the Escape.
BY ALBERT D. RICHARDSON,
N. Y. Tribune Correspondent.

1,000 COPIES SELLING PER DAY!

The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experience for four years. Travelling through the South in the secret service of the "Tribune" at the outbreak of the war, with our armies and fleets, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for twenty months in seven different rebel prisons; his escape and almost miraculous journey by night of nearly 400 miles. It will abound in stirring events, and contain more of the fact, incident and romance of the war, than any other work yet published. Horace Greely says of it:

"A great many books will yet be written concerning this war, in addition to the many already in print; but not one of them will give, within a similar compass, a clearer, fuller, more readable account, entirely from personal observation, of the nature, animus, purposes, tendencies, and instrumentalities of the slaveholders' rebellion, than does the unpretending narrative of Mr. Richardson."

Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, in want of profitable employment, will find it particularly adapted to their condition. Send for circulars. Address

DAILY PROGRESS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 9, 1865.

What is said of Us.

If the invisible agent of the Associated Press in North Carolina has any mercenary or political object, as is charged by some, in the publication of his dispatches regarding our affairs, we are of the opinion that he will succeed. Of late he does not speak on his own authority—but quotes the sentiments of others, thereby giving great weight and importance to his reports. The latest dispatch published is as follows:—

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 1, 1865.

Judge Carter, who has returned from an extensive trip through the Southern States, reports that the cruel treatment of freedmen and the number of homicides committed among them by the white people is increasing to a fearful extent, especially in those places where troops are being withdrawn.

North Carolina is not alone held responsible in the above, but all the "Southern States." Thus we see that the Press agent, and the Progress are not alone in the opinion that matters are not quiet here. In this connection, it may be of interest to quote the following from a letter of the Tribune's correspondent, that individual having just completed an extended tour of the State:—

It is evident that the planters do not intend to sit down under the system of free labor in this State, for such treatment of the families of the blacks plainly indicates that they are aiming to bring about universal discontent, anarchy and crime as a pretext for demanding a compulsory system.

Probably not less than 50 homicides of blacks have occurred in this State since the surrender of Johnston's Army, and I have yet to hear of condign punishment being awarded for one of them. Some have been tried, and their cases are still held for final adjudication.

If these evidences of disquiet continue to be made public, some one will commence to believe them, and the great trouble is, that the whole State will be held responsible. For the misdemeanors of a few disreputable characters we are all blamed, and consequently we are all equally interested in the suppression of this unfortunate element. How can we do this? Not by ignoring the fact that bad deeds are committed; but by exposing the perpetrators and by punishing them. Let the civil authorities of the State heed this advice and all will be well with us.

Secretary Stanton on the Supremacy of the War Power in Mississippi.

In an order recently issued by Major General Slocum, commanding Department of Mississippi, in connection with the trial by military commission, the General publishes the following communication from Secretary Stanton to that department upon the subject:

That the President has accorded a Provisional Government to the State of Mississippi is a fact which should not be allowed to abridge or injuriously affect the jurisdiction heretofore properly assumed by military courts in that region during the war; and especially is the continued exercise of that jurisdiction called for in cases—first, of wrong or injury done by citizens to soldiers, whether white or black; and second, of assault or abuse of colored citizens generally—where, indeed, the local tribunals are either unwilling, by reason of inherent prejudice, or incapable, by reason of the defective machinery, or because of some State law declaring colored persons incompetent as witnesses, to do full justice, or properly punish the offenders.

The State of Mississippi, in common with other insurgent States, is still in the occupation of our forces, and, embraced as it is, in a military department, is still to a very considerable extent under the control of the military authorities. Moreover, the rebellion, although physically crushed, has not been officially announced, or treated either directly or indirectly as a thing of the past. The suspension of the habeas corpus has not been terminated, nor has military law ceased to be enforced, in proper cases, through the agency of military courts and military commanders, in all parts of the country.

What South Carolina has Lost by the Rebellion.

The Charleston Daily News thus sums up the losses of South Carolina by the war:

Of $15 000,000 in bank stock, all is lost. Of $5 000 000 bills in circulation, the market value is not more than twenty per cent. Of three insurance companies, neither can continue business. Of $20 000 000 in railroads, no dividends can be expected. Of 5 000 houses in Charleston, 1 500 have been burned, and others almost irreparably damaged. Of estates of decedents and minors, and of property in litigation four-fifths are represented by Confederate securities and are therefore valueless.

Of our many merchants, lately of large capital and unblemished credit, few have assets to pay the small debts against them at the beginning of the war. Of the many large and valuable estates in Beaufort District and the adjacent islands, all have been abandoned, and many have been sold for taxes. Of the large cotton estates, still further from the seaboard, many have been desolated. Of the cotton on hand at the beginning and raised during the war (amounting in value at least $20,000,000), the larger portion has been taken or destroyed. Of the stock, horses, hogs, cattle, farming implements, utensils and furniture, and silver-ware, all but an inconsiderable amount have been consumed, destroyed or taken.

Of the money in the hands of our citizens at the commencement of the war, or accruing from the sale of property, or the practice of professions, or the payment of debts, all has been invested in securities, of which nine-tenths have no possible value. Of the debts uncollected, few are expected to be paid. Of the funds of churches, colleges, charitable institutions, and societies, all, also, or nearly all, have been sunk. Of the funds of the State, not held by the Government, little has any market value. Into this frightful gulf of ruin has also been swept the value of four hundred thousand slaves, estimated a few years since at $200 000,000. And this, therefore, of the $400,000,000 worth of property in this State in 1860, but little more than $60,000,000 now remains.

—Susan B. Anthony last week made a speech in Chicago, in which, after denouncing the President and party for their "warfare upon the negro," she declared that the prejudices of whites against blacks are entirely unjust and cruel, and that there is no reason why they should exist. Susan herself is so free from his pettiness that she will take none other than black cuff, has adopted mahogany-tinted [illegible] and rounds her periods with the Sinaitic or [illegible] handkerchief.

The United States Capitol Extension—The Library of Congress—The Dome, &c.

The work of removing the old walls, &c., adjacent to the room of the Library of Congress, preparatory to the entering upon the work of extension, has been commenced, and already the portion of the north wing has been cleared out preparatory to the reception of the material. An appropriation of $160,000 was made at the last session of Congress for this work, and the contract was awarded to the Architectural Iron Works of New York at $149,843.—Each wing will be nearly 100 feet in length and 29 in width, with four tiers of alcoves instead of three, as in the present library, and with the old library will form an E. It is expected that the north wing will be ready for use in December and the south wing in May next. The work in the wings will be in keeping with the old library, except as stated, there will be one more tier of alcoves. The ceiling will finish with a cove springing from the upper cornice of the alcoves, instead of the consoles. The capacity of the present library is for 89,000 volumes. The projected wings will accommodate 76,000 and the attic story 20,000, making the total capacity of the enlargement room 124,000 volumes. It is also proposed to fit up two rooms on the lower floor for reading rooms, while the office of the library will be in the second story.

The porticoes on the east front of the Capitol are now completed, and at present the monolithic columns are being set on the north front, the traverse crane used to set the east portico of the Senate wing having been moved around and lengthened for this work, it being about seventy-five feet high, and probably the largest crane of the kind in the world. Secretary Harlan was present last week when the first of the columns was set, and several fine photographic views of the work was taken by Mr. Walker, Photographer of the Treasury Department, also employed at the Capitol, included in which were Secretary Harlan, B. B. French, Jr., Engineer in Charge, and others. The third column will be set in its place to-day, and this portico will be completed by the 1st of December. By May it is expected that the remaining portico on the north wing will be completed.

The iron work upon the dome is very nearly completed, and by the meeting of Congress there will be no reason why visitors cannot get as high up in the world as possible. The iron stairway, which is of easy ascent, has been completed to the tholus, and the gas-pipes have been put in their places around the cornice inside the dome. It is proposed that the seven hundred burners in the dome, which otherwise would require much labor, shall be lighted and extinguished by means of electricity. A fresco on a grand scale, representing the apotheosis of Washington, covering an area of over six thousand square feet (some of the figures being eighteen feet in length) is being laid on the interior of the dome, 180 feet above the floor of the rotunda. Washington is in the centre, supported by Justice on one side and Peace on the other, encircled by a halo of female figures, representing the thirteen original States.—This is surrounded by six groups in the following order: War, with the Goddess of Liberty prominent, sword in hand, beneath whom is seen the ermine representing royalty, with figures representing Fire, Famine, Pestilence, Discord, &c. Science is represented by the Goddess Minerva, with whom are seen Franklin, Fulton and others. Marine is represented by Neptune, Commerce by Mercury, Mechanics by mortars, &c. Agriculture, by the Goddess Ceres, who appears seated on a reaping machine. This is being done by C. Brumidi.

Mr. Walker, who had been the architect of the Capitol extension for some years, resigned in May last, and was succeeded by Mr. B. B. French, as Engineer in Charge, who has since superintended the work, all which is being pressed forward as rapidly as possible.—Star.

"Accidents"

Three thousand one hundred and eighty one persons lost their lives, and nine hundred and thirty-five other persons suffered bodily injuries by accidents, upon American railroads or steamboats, or by explosions of powder magazines or the fall of buildings, in America, during the period between the close of the war for the Union and the 31st ultimo—just five months. These figures, supposing the whole year to present a similar record, would give a total of seven thousand six hundred and thirty two deaths, and two thousand two hundred and forty-four persons wounded within the space of twelve months.

If we could arrive with any certainty at the number, not of the accidents of the above classes, accounts of which appeared in print, but of all that have occurred during the five months, the aggregate would be still more startling. But that would be impossible. The first effort of railway officials is generally to conceal disasters, and next to belittle what they cannot ignore. The public must be content, therefore, with such information as it can obtain, and draw the clearest conclusions deducible from the evidence before it.

It is to aid in drawing these conclusions that we have prepared the statement to which attention is called. One of the commonest attributes of our nature, and perhaps in a peculiarly high degree of American natures, is to forget soon a time of danger or a period of discomfort. An accident occurs on a railway line, or a steamboat, which is of a very fatal character, and we remember it perhaps until the Coroner's jury has gone through its farce of investigation and has settled upon its harmless verdict, but no longer. As for the hundreds of minor casualties, who reads of them, unless they are shown forth in their horrible aggregate of suffering and death. Then and not until then, we begin to perceive that we have traveled for month with a terrible average of risk to ourselves, and we become indignant and alarmed and inquire what is to be done?

Our own opinion is that nothing short of the rigorous action of public prosecutors will meet the evil. But what a disgrace it is that no punishment, even under the present system, is ever meted out to public murderers, for those who control these death-dealing agencies, but do not prevent their horrible slaughters, are no better than murderers. Nay we cannot see in what respect a careless captain, or a reckless railroad employee who neglects the supervision he is employed to use, is morally the superior of the wretch who slays his single victim for a little money or to gratify revenge.

Nor in thus speaking are we using language one whit too strong to meet the case in point. In New York State alone there were 285 persons killed and 18 injured on railways during 1864. Compare this with the 20 deaths from the same cause in England during the same period. Is there not a pretty sound conclusion attainable?

The whole subject of criminal neglect on steamboats and railways is one requiring instant consideration. And we trust that what we print will act as an incentive toward its being brought about.—N. Y. Times.

—A member of the signal corps, in reply to the statement of the Chicago Republican, that the messages were all read by the enemy, says that the chief signal officer under Lee confessed that the rebels could not read our signals, which were sent in cypher. He also affirms that during the investment of Petersburg and Richmond, all the messages sent by the rebels each day were laid before General Meade before 7 o'clock next morning, though during the winter the code was changed four times.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

TO THE LOYAL VOTERS OF WAKE COUNTY.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—Having been recommended by large meetings representing twelve or fifteen districts of the county, I announced myself a candidate for the State Convention, sometime since, subject to the action of a County Convention, should one be held.

At the recent term of the County Court a number of Conservatives made a call for a County Convention to nominate a ticket, which Convention met on Saturday last, but adjourned without making any nomination, there only being seven precincts represented. Previous to the assembling of the Convention, I begged my friends to drop my name if a better and more acceptable ticket could be formed, and urged the nomination or recommendation of W. H. Hood, Col. Ruse and A. F. Page. I expressly authorized my friends to withdraw my name in favor of the gentlemen above named, or any one else who held their principles; but as the County meeting adjourned without forming a ticket, it leaves me no other alternative but to run. I therefore announce to my fellow citizens that I am a candidate for the State Convention and that I shall canvass the county as well as the short time left will permit me, and invite those who have slandered me to meet me on the stump.

If elected to the State Convention I shall favor all measures calculated to restore civil law throughout the State, to restore the State to the Union and to relieve our people of military rule.

I shall most cheerfully and zealously support the administration of President Johnson and the administration and policy of Governor Holden.

I shall advocate the election of Governor Holden to the office he now holds by the appointment of the President when the people shall be called on to elect a chief magistrate.

In or out of the Convention I shall oppose negro suffrage. I shall advocate the enactment of laws for the protection of the person and property of the colored man, but I am opposed to extending him the right of suffrage or any other political privilege more than he now has.

I shall oppose the assumption or payment, by the State, of any debts or bonds, State bonds, Confederate bonds or County bonds, issued for the prosecution of the rebellion.

I shall favor the settlement of all debts of an individual character, contracted during the rebellion, upon a just, fair and equitable basis.

I shall favor the insertion of a clause in our State constitution declaring slavery or involuntary servitude, unless as a punishment for crime, forever abolished in North Carolina.

I give these outlines of my political principles for the benefit of such of my Conservative friends as may have been influenced or prejudiced by the falsehoods and slanders that have been circulated against me, but I will give them more in detail before the people.

I appeal to the really loyal and true Union men of Wake county for their suffrages. No man in the State has suffered more on account of the advocacy of peace measures than I have, and had my counsels been heeded by those in authority the war would have been closed before North Carolina was devastated by the presence of large armies. Of course the candidates of the secessionists will profess Unionism, but the fact that the leading secessionists, those who wanted Mr. Holden and his friends mobbed and hung last summer, support them, ought to be enough to cause all true Conservatives to shun them.

Madame Levert on the Friendly Reception of Ex-Confederates in New York.

The Mobile Tribune, of the 24th, gives the following characteristic letter from Madame Levert of that city, It was a private letter:

NEW YORK, FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL,
August 6, 1865.

Dear Friend—I write to tell you of our safe arrival here at this magnificent hotel. We made a most delightful voyage to New York. There was not a wave sufficient to rock the immense steamer, "The North Star," or a cloud to dim the sunlight during all the weeks of our sea-wanderings.

I find New York full of Confederate officers (many just out of prison). They are most kindly treated here. At a superb supper party given to us by Mrs ——, there were five Confederate Generals—Marmaduke and Wheeler among the number—and Colonels, Majors and Captains in profusion.

The Confederates are dined and supped by the very men they fought against. Every one expresses the highest admiration of the Confederates, and I have not heard yet one word of bitterness against the South. Two publishers have called on me, hearing I intended writing "souvenirs of the war." They made me great offers if I will publish. I have serious thoughts of doing so. I assure you I shall do full justice to the heroic Southern soldiers. I often feel it my duty to let the world know that the annals of all times do not hold a parallel to the self sacrifice and heroism of the Southern soldiers. They were blessed in many of their leaders but ennobled in others. I wish you were here to enjoy this delightful hotel and these pleasant days. Major O., of Texas, is here. He says that "Bob Lane is the most gallant man in the world, and the coolest in battle."

Although we have not sent our cards to any one, many of our friends have found us out, and songs have been to see me, inviting us to dinners and parties, (supper parties at this season!) and everyone manifesting the greatest respect and delight to see us once more in New York.

It is said that there is an effort being made by politicians here to get up another revolution in the South. So much money was made during the war that they want it to begin again. God grant it never, never may!

An old friend to whom my beloved Papa rendered a great service in the "long, long ago," invited me to accompany himself, wife and family to Europe, offering to pay all our expenses. I would gladly have gone, but O, and N. preferred to remain here rather than cross the Atlantic again, to stay three years, and we declined. Was not this offer an evidence that there is gratitude even in this hard age. I felt as grateful to the excellent friend of my father as though I had accepted his offer.

Reforms at the President's House.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, gives the following information, showing how executive business is crowded at the President's house for want of a proper number of clerks:

The constant extention of the Government and the vastly increased duties thrown upon the President by the rebellion, have for some years been broadening and deepening the streams of business steadily flowing upon the White House. During the last year of Mr. Lincoln's Administration his Secretaries were pretty well washed under by the flood, which it seemed hopeless to contend. Only Mr. Johnson was engaged on court-martial matters left by order to him while General Hooker was in command of the Army of the Potomac. Meanwhile the suspension of hostilities has given an additional increase to the mass of executive business.

To transact it all, the President has the same force that was made many years ago for peaceful events of the era of Monroe and John Quincy Adams—one Private Secretary at a salary of twenty-five hundred dollars. Whatever clerical aid beyond the President receives, he must get by some special direction—the detail of army officers, the use of clerks from such departments as can temporarily spare them to the White House and the like usual expedients. Congress should take some steps to adapt the direct provision for the Presidential clerical wants to the advanced necessities of the time. In the meantime his secretaries, General Moody and Colonel Browning, have been initiating a number of admirable reforms. Quite a number of clerks have been in one way and another been procured. Assorts of the various classes of documents coming before the President have been made to various offices for examination and briefing, blanks have been prepared and printed, and a general system has been established which greatly facilitates the transaction of the current business. But for these timely acts of the two secretaries, the tremendous pressure from the outside would, before this time, have utterly blocked the passage of all ordinary business at the White House.

John Bright.

The American public will wait with eagerness for confirmation of the report that John Bright has accepted an invitation from President Johnson to visit the United States, and that one of the noble ocean vessels has been ordered to convey the Nation's guest to our shores. Mr. Bright's visit, will meet with a welcome such as the world never before witnessed, and such as only the American people can give to an Englishman, whose voice was ever raised in behalf during the long war just closed. It will be a welcome; not however, royal in the attendance of State pageantry, but in the hearty, spontaneous and universal enthusiasm with which the whole people will acknowledge their debt of gratitude to the man who, in the dark days of our country, contending against the prejudices and errors of the contesting classes of Great Britain defended the cause of our nationality, exposed the subterfuges of its enemies, and gave his powerful, unhesitating support to the cause of human freedom. In the dreariest day of war Bright never gave up the Republic: "I cannot," he said in 1863, "that civilization in company with the sun will sink into endless night to gratify the ambition of the leaders of slavery who seek to

> "Raise through slaughter to a throne,
> And Shut the gates of mercy on mankind."

* * * I see one vast confederation stretching from the frozen North in colossal line to the sunny South, and from shore to shore with billows of the Atlantic, westward to the calmer waters of the Pacific main—and I see one people, and one law, and one language, and one faith, and over all that wide continent the banner of the Union, and the flag of the stripes and stars, no longer the symbol of power, but the sacred ensign of liberty, and the refuge of the oppressed of all climes."

Mr. Bright is naturalized by such utterances as this into a citizen of every American soul, and will find, if he comes to us, a welcome of friends.—Baltimore American.

Route No. 5,673 Columbia, S. C., to Charlotte, N. C.—Order service on the Charlotte and South Carolina Railroad in conveying mails from Columbia, by Doke, Ridgeway, Simpson's Winnsboro', Yongueville, Blackstock, Fornwall Turnout, Chester Court-house, Chestnut Grove, Smith's Turnout Rock Hill, Fort Miles, and Pineville, N. C., to Charlotte, 110 miles, and back, daily, or as much oftener as trains may run, if required &c.

On the line Goldsboro', N. C., to Charlotte, Thomas W. Laws is appointed agent, with pay at the rate of $800 per annum.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON ACCEPTS THE RICHMOND INVITATION.

Washington, September 5.—Charles Palmer, of Richmond, who was sent to invite the President and Cabinet to visit that city, arrive here on Saturday. He has been most cordially received, and to-day, at 12 o'clock, by special invitation, was presented by Mr. Seward to the Cabinet, a compliment due to Mr. Palmer, who, during the war, was imprisioned with Mr. Botts for his devotion to the Union.

The President and the Cabinet expressed to Mr. Palmer the hope to be able to accept the invitation of the prople of Richmond, as soon as the weather and public business will permit.

THE TEXAS INDEMNITY BONDS.

The Secretary of the Treasury is now paying the Texas indemnity bonds, so called, which were issued by the United States to the State of Texas, under the act of September 9th, 1850, when such bonds are presented by loyal holders, with evidence that they have passed only through the hands of loyal citizens.

GENERAL ROBINSON.

Brevet Major-General John C. Robinson, of New York, commanding the Department of Northern and Western New York, was recently inadvertently mustered out of service by an order of the War Department. The mistake has been corrected from its date. It will be remembered that General Robinson lost a leg at Spotsylvania courthouse, and has recently been breveted Brigadier-General in the regular army. The service cannot boast a more gallant and meritorious officer.

JEFF. DAVIS' HEALTH.

General Mills, in command of Fort Monroe, telegraphs that Jeff. Davis has been and is still suffering with erysipelas and with carbuncles in his legs.

THE TRIAL OF WIRZ.

The Government has only between thirty and forty witnesses more to be examined in the Wirz trial. Their testimony will be on particular points. A few only have as yet been subpoened for the defence. It is now supposed that the trial will terminate about the first of October.

The first negro witness was examined to-day.—He was remarkably clear in his narrative concerning the treatment of prisoners at Andersonville, including those of his own color.

It is understood that the prosecution will soon introduce some record evidence of an important character.

GREAT FIRE AT TROY, NEW YORK.

Troy, September 5.—A fire occurred in West Troy this afternoon, below Canal street, taking both sides of Broadway, including Tifford & Lapham's steam planing mill, to Exchange street.—The loss will probably reach $100,000, including Wisewall's mansion house block and other stores.

The fire was finally stopped at Exchange street by general exertions. The Democrat office is destroyed.

EXPLOSION OF A LOCOMOTIVE BOILER, THREE MEN KILLED.

Harrisburg, Sept. 5.—The Erie express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, coming east this morning, when near Duncannon, met with a dreadful accident, by which three persons were instantly killed. The boiler of the locomotive drawing the train exploded with fearful force, killing the engineer, Dougherty, and terribly mangling the fireman, and also killing a stranger who was riding on the locomotive. The baggage master was slightly wounded. A coroner's inquest is to be held this evening to investigate the matter.

I WILL sell a bargain, for cash or on time, in a FARM at Williamsboro' of 340 acres land. Good improvements. A Tobacco Factory and Ginnery to work 25 hands. 80,000 pounds Leaf Tobacco and 60 to 70,000 pounds to work on shares. I wish to sell all together.
